

Dr. William Repicci, President and CEO at LE&RN

William Repicci has over 25 years of experience leading nonprofit organizations and businesses. Leadership positions have included being director of humanitarian programs in Northern Kenya, managing director of the National Theatre of the Deaf, CEO of the Fairbanks Resource Agency serving persons with developmental disabilities in Alaska, executive director of the Pasos Peace Museum in NYC and CEO of a dramatic publishing company. In 2013, he was awarded the ANCOR Legacy Leadership Award for his career accomplishments in advocacy efforts. Under his own management company, he has produced or managed over 35 plays and musicals in NYC, London and on tour. He has graduate degrees in Global Affairs (NYU); Behavioral Psychology (University of Wisconsin-Madison); Administration (Seattle University); Psychology (Catholic University of America); and a BA in Philosophy (Le Moyne College).